

Recognised Certification Labels for the Green Button

(02/2023)

As part of the meta-label approach, the Green Button sets requirements for production processes. Companies demonstrate compliance through recognised certification labels. An independent assessment (benchmarking process) is currently taking place to evaluate which certification labels are recognised for complying with the requirements of Green Button 2.0. The certification labels recognised for the Green Button 1.0 are provisionally recognised for the Green Button 2.0 until July 31, 2024. These certification labels are marked with the white box.  GB1.0

The green box  GB2.0 indicates which certification labels are already recognised for the Green Button 2.0.

For more information on which fibres/materials are approved and which certification labels can be used for which fibres, please refer to this document.

Sub-scopes for recognition of certification labels for fibre and material use

Fibre category Sub-scope

Man-made fibres	1	Requirements for raw materials for man-made fibres from natural polymers (regenerated) – forestry
	2	Requirements for raw materials for man-made fibres from natural polymers (regenerated) – other
	3	Requirements for recycled raw materials for man-made fibres from artificial polymers (synthetics)
	4	Requirements for raw materials for virgin man-made fibres from artificial polymers (synthetics)
Plant-based fibres	5	Requirements for raw materials from organic, agricultural production (plant-based fibres)
	6	Requirements for raw materials from other sustainable, agricultural production (plant-based fibres)
	7	Requirements for raw materials from recycled material (plant-based fibres)
Animal fibres	8	Requirements for raw materials from organic, agricultural production (animal fibres)
	9	Requirements for raw materials from other sustainable, agricultural production (animal fibres)
	10	Down and feathers
